What others are saying about our curriculum

Using the DRP curriculum with junior high students was one of the highlights of my teaching assignment. The teacher's text is a very helpful resource. I was able to easily plan ahead. The lessons are creative and fun and my students enjoyed Bible Class. My students loved the dramas, the skits, and bringing cocoons to class. Most importantly, in my view, the class had great discussions on the meaningful and important topics covered in the curriculum. It was right on target for junior high. I saw my students growing in knowledge and developing deeper relationships with the Lord. I highly recommend it.

*John Kallin,
New Tribes Mission School*

I just received my order and I am so excited! I have been homeschooling for 18 years, and this is the best Bible curriculum I have ever seen! It incorporates the three components that I have constantly tried to find ways to teach my kids; Bible memory, inductive study with an emphasis on application, and a heart for the world resulting in participation in the Great Commission.

Cindy Greenplate, 18 year veteran Home School mom

This is our third year using Discovering Our Amazing God in our school. We enjoy this curriculum because it is creatively put together and brings out creativity in the students. Students don't just repeat facts or give "pat" answers but are required to think as they express themselves through poetry, drawing, hymn writing and journaling. Students regularly mention at their Grade Eight graduation that the Bible course was a highlight of their school year! They are definitely "discovering their amazing God" with this curriculum. Keep up the good work!

Lena Wall, Mt. Salem Christian School

Thought-provoking questions rather than questions that ask for one-or two-word answers lead the student to understand and apply each lesson to his/her own life. Memorization of significant Scripture passages and systematic careful review enhance the retention of truths studied. These studies provide the teacher with excellent support whether experienced or new at the task.

Lila Dean Bruckner, Ph.D., Education Consultant to PIONEERS

The authors guide the students to discover and apply biblical principles in their spiritual growth. It will challenge and equip students for a life that is God-focused, yielded, obedient, and fruitful. The authors have produced an extremely "teacher friendly" curriculum that includes everything needed to be academically sound and biblically based. Excellent!
